“I’m concise, thorough, and reliable. I leverage my knack for research to uncover the most effective outcomes to complex issues. Open lines of communication are important to me, as is collaboration with clients to craft the most advantageous path forward.”

Sofia McDonald is an associate in the financial services department, focused on bankruptcy & creditors’ rights. She supports clients in a broad range of issues involving bankruptcy, receivership, and foreclosures. Sofia began at Miller Nash as a summer associate in 2021 and 2022, supporting the firm’s financial services team by researching and drafting briefings for a variety of matters.

During law school, Sofia worked as a judicial extern for the U.S. Bankruptcy Court District of Oregon, where she analyzed the intersection of probate and bankruptcy law. She also was able to assess and arrange memoranda for future hearings.
