“I have a history of building trust and confidence with clients by carefully listening to the facts underlying each client’s concerns, thoroughly analyzing the various potential outcomes, and assisting each client to identify their goal in resolving the matter by evaluating the relative risks, benefits, and costs of each alternative strategy in achieving the client’s goal. Availability and responsiveness to each client is paramount in serving my clients.”

John John has successfully represented corporations and individuals in negotiating agreements and resolving disputes regarding financing and purchase of real estate, commercial loans, and estate and trust matters. Because of his Greek background, John has assisted many from Greece with inheritance claims in Washington State and also in guiding Washington residents in pursuing inheritance claims in Greece.
